PREFACE.

THIS Catalogue is copied from the official catalogue of the Bethnal Green Museum, to which some additional notes have been added.

This Collection having been exhibited for so many years at both the Victoria and Albert Museum and the Bethnal Green Museum, needs no special description. It has been described by many writers on art subjects, and on its removal, in the year 1888, from the Victoria and Albert Museum to the Bethnal Green Branch,* it was further increased from Mr. Massey-Mainwaring's residence. The exhibition was opened by the then President of the Board of Education. The most recent description is given by Lady Dilke in her book, "French Decoration and Furniture in the Eighteenth Century, 1901," in which the Caffieri Commode is illustrated.

* The Numbers in brackets, immediately following the Lot Number, are the Numbers which were allotted to the Specimens in the Official Catalogue of the Bethnal Green Branch of the Victoria and Albert Museum

EXTRACT FROM LADY DILKE'S "French Decoration and Furniture in the Eighteenth Century."—"Neither at South Kensington, nor at Hertford House, nor yet, I think, in our Royal collections, do we find any example of the work of this remarkable craftsman; but at Bethnal Green are now to be seen two panels of scarlet Japanese lacquer mounted as corner cupboards (Nos. 8152, 8153, lent by Mr. Massey-Mainwaring) and stamped . . . 'B.V.R.B.' They are framed in ebony with sober enrichments of gilt bronze; the flat pilasters at the sides are broadly treated, inlaid with gilt bronze ornament and surmounted by vases wreathed with flowers, from which the pilasters are detached by well-designed 'soleils' of the same metal, and, as is the case with every work that bears these mysterious initials, they have a lordly air." p. 162.
